

Lauren Knausenberger
Deputy CIO, U.S. Air Force

Adam Furtado
Chief of Platform, Kessel Run, U.S. Air Force

A photograph of a severely damaged building, likely a school or community center, with significant structural damage and debris scattered on the ground. A white van is visible in the background. The image is overlaid with a semi-transparent grey banner containing text.

Failure to us is not a loss of subscribers,
it's a loss of lives

A person in military camouflage stands with their back to the camera in a control room. In the background, large screens display data, including a world map with blue and red regions and various charts. Other personnel are seated at desks with computers in the foreground.

KESSELRUN

1970_s

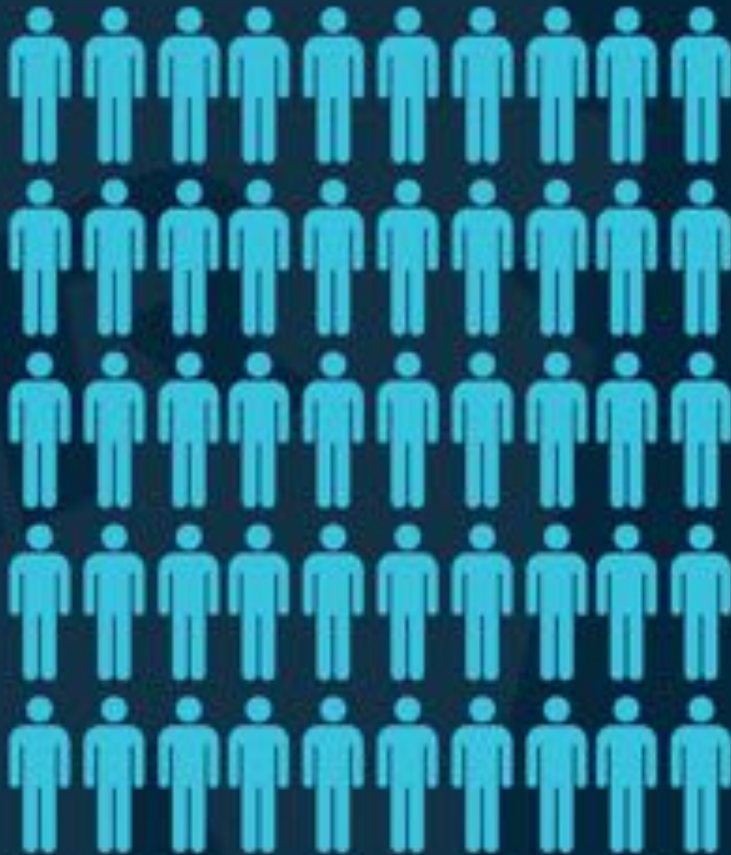

A person in military camouflage is seen from behind, standing in a control room. In the background, there are large screens displaying a world map and various data visualizations. The room is dimly lit with a red ambient light. The text 'KESSELRUN' is overlaid in the center of the image.

KESSELRUN

2017

KESSELRUN

2018

KESSELRUN

2019

KESSEL RUN

2020

KESSEL RUN

20 Product Teams

18 Service Teams

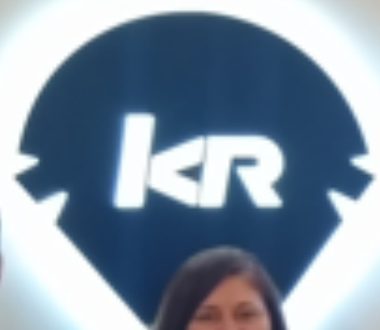

15 Platform & Support Teams

8 Legacy Program Teams

~1260 personnel (~100 military, ~300 government civilians)

2020

KESSEL RUN

KESSELRUN

INCREASED CUSTOMER CENTRICITY

INCREASED FLOW

INCREASED DEV PRODUCTIVITY

INCREASED EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT

Platform Vision Statement:

Build a platform to win the war.

KESSEL RUN

KESSELRUN

KESSEL RUN

It's not a rebellion, it's a revolution

KESSEL RUN

Here's the help I'm looking for...

Lauren Knausenberger
/in/lauren-knausenberger
@lknausenberger

Adam Furtado
/in/adam-furtado
@adamsfurtado